Celebrate Tehama Country Conservation Day at Red Bluff Frontier Village Farmers' Market!

On Saturday April 27, 2013 join us from 10 am to 2 pm at Frontier Village (on Antelope Boulevard across from the fairgrounds) in Red Bluff for Tehama Country Conservation Day. Both young and old alike will enjoy the festivities, come down and learn about conserving our resources, gardening, and eating healthy. It will be a completely free event for the whole community.

Sponsors include the Tehama County Community Action Agency, the Job Training Center, Redwood Seeds, University of California Davis, Wyntour Gardens, and the Sacramento River Discovery Center. These organizations will be hosting a variety of informational booths, donations, prizes and activities for the whole family. You will learn how to garden at home and receive a free garden box kit (while supplies last) and seedlings. Learn about healthy foods, care of seedlings, and how to make affordable garden boxes for all of your veggie needs. Staff from the Tehama County Sanitary Landfill Agency will also provide composting demonstrations, recycling information, and a mobile reuse trailer, REAP, with free cleaning products, paints, stains, polishes and much more (while supplies last). Come join us for this free family event and get your picture with Carson Carrot!

If you would like more information about this event, please call the Tehama County Community Action Agency at (530) 527-6159.
