DID YOU KNOW?

Fall is the perfect time to reassess your waste reduction practices and to explore new ways to keep reducing waste around your home and at work. While recycling cans, bottles, paper, plastic, and metal are standard practice; check out some of the tips below to help expand your waste reduction.

- Cooking Oil Recycling: Did you know the Tehama County/Red Bluff Landfill accepts cooking oil for recycling into biodiesel? Drop it off for free at the landfill or set it next to your recycling cart if you have Green Waste of Tehama service.
- Food Rescue: 25% more trash is thrown away between the Thanksgiving and New Year's holidays than any other time of year. A good amount of that is food waste, so this year start planning early to avoid wasted food. Check out <https://savethefood.com/> for helpful tips on meal planning, food storage, and rescuing food so it does not go to waste.
- Clean, Dry and Empty: When the celebrating is over after your holiday gatherings be sure to recycle your cans and bottles. Make sure they are Clean, Dry and Empty so they do not contaminate the paper and cardboard in your recycling cart.
- Avoid Contamination: Along with keeping your recyclables Clean, Dry and Empty; you should also avoid putting items in your recycling cart that do not belong. Styrofoam, greasy pizza boxes, and dirty lasagna pans should all go in the trash.
- Household Battery Recycling: The months of October, November, and December are when one third of all batteries are purchased in the U.S. each year. Make sure to recycle your "dead" batteries; visit our website for how and where to recycle them <http://www.co.tehama.ca.us/toxics/batteries>.

Keep in mind that when items are recycled, they do not end up in our landfill to be buried forever. If we continue to recycle and reduce our waste, we can keep our landfill open for many more years, keeping this valuable resource available for future generations.
